

Character Reference Letter for JAHmere Webb

Keandrea Aiken

P.O. Box 430

Waldo, Florida 32694

keandreaa@yahoo.com

(352) 682-2725

July 17, 2025

The Honorable Judge Denise R. Ferrero

Hillsborough County Courthouse

800 E. Twiggs Street

Tampa, FL 33602

RE: Character Reference for JAHmere Webb - My Brother

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing this letter in full support of my brother, JAHmere Webb, to attest to his outstanding character and integrity. I have had the privilege of knowing him all my life, and during that time, I have watched him grow into a responsible, hardworking, and compassionate individual.

A Lifetime of Witnessing Character

As JAHmere's sister, I have a unique perspective on his character—I've seen him at his best and his worst, in public and in private, through celebrations and challenges. What has remained constant throughout our lives is his fundamental goodness. The brother I know is not defined by this current situation but by decades of consistent care, responsibility, and growth.

JAHmere consistently puts others before himself. This isn't just a nice phrase—it's a pattern I've witnessed countless times throughout our lives. Whether supporting family during difficult times or volunteering to help friends, his actions reflect genuine kindness and sincerity. I've watched him give his last dollar to help someone in need, spend hours helping family members with tasks, and drop everything to be there when someone needs support. He holds himself to high moral standards and approaches life with a strong sense of duty and respect for others.

Growth Through Adversity

Over the years, I have seen JAHmere demonstrate tremendous growth and resilience. Life hasn't always been easy for our family, and JAHmere has faced his share of challenges. But what impresses me most is how he faces life's challenges with determination and actively seeks self-improvement through mentorship, community involvement, and personal reflection.

His commitment to becoming a better person is evident in everything he does. I've watched him:

- Seek out mentors and actually listen to their guidance
- Take responsibility for his mistakes and work to make amends
- Support younger family members to help them avoid pitfalls
- Maintain steady employment and take pride in his work
- Build genuine friendships based on mutual respect and support

This growth hasn't happened overnight—it's been a journey of consistent effort and genuine desire to be better today than he was yesterday.

Understanding the Present Moment

I recognize the seriousness of the current situation and fully respect the legal process. As his sister, I don't make excuses for JAHmere's actions. However, I humbly ask that you take into account the positive qualities that define JAHmere beyond this single moment.

What I know about my brother is this: He is not only remorseful for his actions but is also dedicated to making amends and becoming a contributing member of society. His remorse isn't just about consequences—it's about genuinely understanding how his actions have impacted others and wanting to make things right. I truly believe in his ability to learn from this experience and continue to make meaningful contributions to those around him.

Our Family's Ongoing Support

Your Honor, JAHmere is not alone in this journey. Our family stands united in support of him—not to enable poor choices, but to ensure he has the structure and accountability needed to move forward positively. We are committed to:

- Providing emotional support and encouragement
- Helping maintain accountability for his commitments
- Ensuring he has stable housing and family connections
- Supporting his efforts at rehabilitation and growth
- Being present and active in his journey toward restoration

A Sister's Appeal

Judge Ferrero, I've known JAHmere longer than anyone else who might write to you. I've seen him as a child learning right from wrong, as a young man finding his way, and as an adult taking responsibility for his life. The person standing before you is someone who has made a serious mistake, yes, but he is also someone with tremendous capacity for good, proven ability to grow, and genuine desire to contribute positively to society.

I ask you to consider not just punishment, but the potential for transformation. JAHmere has shown throughout his life that when given opportunity and support, he rises to meet expectations. With appropriate consequences that include rehabilitation and community support rather than just incarceration, I believe JAHmere can emerge from this experience as an even more valuable member of our community.

Thank you for your time and thoughtful consideration. I have faith in both the justice system's ability to be fair and my brother's ability to learn and grow from this experience. Please feel free to contact me if you require any additional information.

Sincerely,

Keandrea Aiken

P.O. Box 430

Waldo, Florida 32694

keandreaa@yahoo.com

(352) 682-2725

Realtor

Sister of JAHmere Webb

"Family means standing by each other through the storms, believing in redemption, and never giving up on the possibility of transformation."